

RECENT DEATHS.

Hazen.

Orinda Kimball, wife of L. D. Hazen, died quite suddenly Friday evening, having been sick only 24 hours with acute indigestion and a bronchial trouble. She seemed better, however, and died of heart failure, while her family had left the room for a few minutes. A few years ago she broke her hip and for a long time was quite an invalid, but lately she had been in very good health. She was born in Melrose April 1, 1834, the daughter of Lloyd and Lous Kimball. She attended St. Johnsbury Academy and taught school, part of the time in Kentucky, until her marriage to Mr. Hazen in 1861. They lived in Newbury for a short time, then in Barnet until they came to St. Johnsbury in 1875.

She is survived by her husband and four children: Lucius K. Hazen of St. Johnsbury, Prof. Charles D. Hazen of Northampton, Mass., Mrs. N. H. Houghton of Boston and Mrs. W. W. Bradley of Minneapolis. The family have the deep sympathy of a large circle of friends here and elsewhere in their great loss.

Mrs. Hazen was a lovely lady of sterling character, devoted to the home and much beloved by her neighbors and friends. She had been a member of the North Congregational church since 1876, was active in the work that the ladies' associations were doing and was one of the faithful members of the church and its various organizations. The loss of this unassuming but charming lady will be keenly felt in this community.

The funeral was held at her late home Tuesday afternoon and was conducted by her pastor, Rev. George W. C. Hill. There was a profusion of floral tributes from many long friends. The bearers were Robert Mackinnon, William S. Boynton, Herbert A. Stanley and Raymond A. Pearl.

Among those from out of town called here by her death were Prof. and Mrs. Charles D. Hazen, Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Houghton, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hazen of Hartford, Mrs. Emily Watkins of Newbury, Mrs. William Kimball of Melrose, Mr. and Mrs. Paris of Lyndon.

Sister St. Berthelemy.

Sister St. Berthelemy of the Order of Notre Dame died Saturday morning at St. Johnsbury hospital, after only a week's illness with paralysis. She was 69 years old and had been in the community of Notre Dame for over 47 years, serving most of the time as superior. Two years ago she came to this city here for rest but she never left and up to the last days of her life kept busy. She had charge of the Sodality of the Children of Mary which brought her in touch with the members of Notre Dame parish. The remains were taken Saturday afternoon to Montreal for interment in the cemetery at Villa Maria. The funeral was at 8 a. m. Monday in the private chapel of the community house. Father Briset, pastor of Cote St. Paul where she was superior for over seven years, sang the service and over 100 pupils from three convents in which she had been superior attended.

Underwood.

Edwin Underwood, who had been in poor health for three years or more with a heart trouble, went to sleep on Sunday morning. He was a tailor by trade and followed that business here for many years, having a shop in the Allen, now the Bailey block on Eastern avenue. He retired in 1893. When he retired few of the men who were in business when he began in 1870 were left and there have been many other changes since. He was a quiet, unostentatious man, whose interests were chiefly confined to his own family and affairs. When the Universalist church was organized he became interested in it and continued to make it his home church as long as he was able to attend service anywhere. He was born in Bradford February 25, 1826. When a young man he moved to Lyndon and there followed his trade until he came to St. Johnsbury in 1870. In 1848 he was married to Caroline Clifford of Danville, who died several years ago. He is survived by his second wife, who was Mrs. Martha McNeil of Sheffield, and one daughter, Carrie, by his first wife. The funeral was held yesterday at 2 o'clock, Rev. A. F. Welch of Manchester, N. H., officiating.

Church Notes.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Pythian Hall. Sunday morning service, 10:45. Subject, "Doctrine of Atonement." Children's Sunday school will follow the morning service. Wednesday evening meeting at 7:30. The reading room is located in the Bank block, corner Main street and Eastern Avenue, and is open daily, except Sunday, from 2:30 to 5 p. m.; also Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7:30 to 9. Christian Science literature can here be read or purchased if desired.

Vespers with address at 7:00. The subject of sermon by the rector at the morning service will be appropriate for the day, viz., "St. Luke, the Apostolic Doctor." At the evening service the rector will begin a series of addresses to young people. Subject, "The Power of Ambition in a Young Man's Career." Mr. Childs of Boston will be the special soloist at both morning and evening prayer.

The subject of the evening lecture at Grace Methodist church next Sunday will be "Responsibility."

Rev. S. Martin Niven of Tufts College, Mass., will preach at the Church of the Messiah next Sunday.

Secretary Adams of the Y. M. C. A. had charge of the prayer meeting at the North church, Wednesday night, in the absence of the pastor, and spoke in a most interesting manner upon what the Association is doing for the men in Ceylon.

Rev. C. S. Lewis of Bellows Falls, chairman of the diocesan Sunday school commission, will hold an institute at St. Andrews church on Friday afternoon and evening, October 23.

Next Sunday will be observed as rally day at the Grace Methodist Sunday school, and a splendid program has been provided for the occasion.

MUSEUM NOTES.

Collection of War Envelopes—A Rare Warbler Found—An Ancient Board Saw.

The Fairbanks Museum has recently acquired a very interesting exhibit. It consists of 615 war envelopes and 10 letters printed during the Civil War, and 69 envelopes from the Spanish War. As far as known, this is the largest collection of these unique documents in the country. Many thousands of them were printed from 1861-'65, but the high price offered for waste paper at the war, tempted people to sell all old envelopes and now but few are to be found. Many of the envelopes are decorated with pictures of Washington, some with that of Franklin, while others show portraits of various generals, Scott, Fremont, McClellan, Anderson, Banks, Burnside and many more. Lincoln was a favorite subject with the makers of these envelopes, and one of the most interesting pictures is that of a Virginia rail fence with Lincoln's face beneath, and the legend, "The Fence that Uncle Abe built."

Mottoes are as much in evidence as pictures, and most of the famous sayings of those stirring years were put on these envelopes. "Whatever our Politics, the Constitution must be sustained"; "The Union now and forever"; and, "Disunion by armed force is Treason," show the sentiment of the times. Some envelopes are decorated with the seals of various loyal states; some with symbols of different regiments or army corps; some with pictures of cities or public buildings, especially hospitals; many show the stars and stripes. The humor of a designer of these envelopes must have been somewhat akin to that of a cartoonist of today. For example, Jeff Davis is figured as a photographer "Taking Washington" with a camera. A few of the envelopes came from the South, and show the other side of the picture. The stars and bars, with "Southern Rights," or the same flag being nailed to a staff by a soldier and labeled, "Death before Dishonor," are two of the best styles among these. The Lincoln morning envelopes are unique, as are also the letter-sheets of nearly foot-long size, with a patriotic song or poem on the first page, the other three being left blank for correspondence.

The Spanish War envelopes show the crossed flags of the United States and Cuba, and many representations of the former alone, with such legends as "Remember the Maine," and "Oa to Havana." But the chief interest in this collection centers in the cartoons, which decorate many of the envelopes. Uncle Sam is represented as presenting Spain (a sick infant), with a coffin, and saying, "I've a nice little new cradle for you." On another, Federal and Confederate soldiers are supporting the flag, while Uncle Sam looks on with a proud smile and declares, "I'll match 'em again the world!" What is, perhaps, the best representation in the collection, has a fine representation of "Old Glory," with the motto "These colors never run." The collection may be seen by application at the office of the Museum.

About three weeks ago, a bird was found dead on the piazza at Elmwood, apparently having flown against glass and been killed. It was brought to the Museum and there identified as the Connecticut Warbler, a bird which has been reported by the Museum Clark six years between 1904 and 1907, but which has been reported by but one other person in northern Vermont. The authorities of the Biological Survey have always wished for visual confirmation of this report and so this "bird in the hand," was sent to them, and elicited the following letter from Mr. Cooke:

U. S. Department of Agriculture, Biological Survey, Washington, D. C. October 8, 1908.

DEAR MISS GRIFFIN: Your favor of October 5th received, and also the bird that you sent. It is the Connecticut Warbler, as I suppose you had suspected. Will you please give me the exact date of its capture, and I want to congratulate you on the record for it is probably the second sure record for Vermont, and not only the most northern record in that state but the most northern for the whole of New England. I return the bird to you in today's mail.

Very truly yours,

WELLS W. COOKE,

Assistant, Biological Survey.

Bird-students of the town will be interested to know that through the courtesy of Prof. Henry Fairbanks, this bird will be placed in the Museum collection.

An interesting relic has been loaned to the Museum by Horace Warden of Barnet. It is an upright board saw and has been used by at least three generations of the Warden family. These saws were wrought before the age of machinery and the wooden handles were fastened on by hand-riven bolts. In using the implement, one man stood above, one below, the log, which was sawn vertically, instead of across, as is the fashion today. In India and other parts of the far East countries, the upright saw is still in use, but in this country, modern methods have supplanted it, and it is seldom that one is to be seen. This saw has been placed in the collection of colonial articles at the north end of the Museum.

Organ Service.

After being thoroughly repaired and some much needed improvements made St. Andrew's church organ, (Memorial) was reopened last Sunday with befitting services. Rev. J. A. Thompson, the rector, preached an appropriate sermon on "The History and Language of Music in Divine Worship," and the choir sang Maunders' "Praise the Lord O Jerusalem," in good form.

The evening vesper service was a musical one and included a clarinet solo "Adagio" from Spohr by Joseph Cheney and selections by choir and organist. The tone of the organ has been lowered to the international pitch, and is now in excellent condition. The rector expressed his thanks and those of the choir and congregation at the evening service for the fine contribution to the church services in the improvements to the organ.

Hugh Mackinnon is the organist and choir director.

Foot Ball Victory.

St. Johnsbury Academy defeated Lyndon Institute on the campus Saturday by the score of 11 to 0. It was the Academy's third game and the first win of the season. The no score game at Lyndonville the previous week came as a surprise to the team and, in fact, to the whole school and did more toward bringing out the delinquents than anything that could possibly have happened. They realized that it would never do to let their neighbors from the north down old St. J. A., and this awakening from the trance that had evidently held them since the opening of the season was responsible for the reorganized team that met and defeated the wearers of the blue and white.

It was St. Johnsbury's game from the first kick-off and not once during the game was the pig-skin in hostile hands on the local's territory.

The visitors kicked off and the ball was carried down the field on a series of trick plays and line rushes without interruption until within striking distance of the enemy's goal, when Fisk was sent through the line for the first touchdown. Chappell failed to kick the goal. St. Johnsbury scored again in the last half. Lyndon Institute lost the ball on downs after the locals had kicked to them and again St. Johnsbury carried it down the field, Chappell showing excellent judgment in mixing up the trick plays, forward passes and line rushes, thus keeping his men fresh and the visitors puzzled. When within six yards of the line Captain Barrett was sent through the visitors' right tackle for the last touchdown and Chappell kicked the goal.

While the whole team played a star game it would not be out of place to mention Russell, the find at right tackle, who went in practically green at the game but showed up like a veteran and "Fat" Gray, whose "Whirling Dervish" style of play captivated the crowd and netted the local team some very substantial gains. Gibson, at left end, played a whirlwind game and Scott opened up holes in the Lyndon Institute line that would let an ox team through. Jones was the only visitor who showed form and his gain after taking Ferguson's perfect forward pass was one of the features of the game.

The Academy team as it now stands is one of the best that has represented the school in recent years. The back field is fast and the line is strong and above all they are confident and have the support of the student body which are indeed potent factors in winning games.

ST. JOHNSBURY CENTER.

Mrs. Helen Hill of Conway, N. H., and Mrs. Fred Blanchard of Tyngsboro, Mass., were the guests of Mrs. M. D. Park last week.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Page went to White River Junction, Thursday to visit her daughter. They will visit their sons at Newville and Hondsale, N. H., and other places of interest as they expect to be gone for several weeks.

M. D. Park was in Boston the first of the week to purchase fall and winter goods.

John Harding will sell his place and has gone to board with Mrs. Susan Hill. Mrs. Clara Kelley, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Dickinson, has returned to her home at Lynn, Mass.

Miss Lena Hallett entertained the young ladies at her home Friday evening. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time enjoyed by all.

Miss Ella McLaughlin is attending the State Christian Endeavor meeting at Fair Haven this week.

Mrs. Hollis Pierce of St. Johnsbury called on friends here last week.

Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Worthen have been visiting their son at White River Junction.

Mrs. Ward expects Mrs. Sherman of Lyndonville to come to care for her this week.

Mrs. Thrasher and daughter of Wheelock have been visiting at Mrs. Ella Kidney's.

Dwight Simpson has returned to Fitchburg, Mass., but Mrs. Simpson and daughter will remain here for several weeks.

Mrs. Stella Macomber, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hallett, has returned to her home at Amherst, Mass.

Mrs. A. N. Drew of St. Johnsbury called on friends here Friday.

Mrs. Fannie Giffin of St. Johnsbury, Mrs. Martha Prescott of Barton and Mrs. Albert Gregory of Lyndon were the guests of Mrs. Bert Gregory last week.

Miss Edith Vance of Danville is stopping with Mrs. M. D. Park while Mr. Park is in Boston.

Shepherd Pomong Grange will meet at Wide Awake Hall, Wednesday evening, Oct. 21.

Mrs. Lucy Jackson has returned from Dorchester, Mass., where the position she had taken proved unsatisfactory. Her friends here are glad that she will stay in Vermont.

Wide Awake Grange will hold an auction at their hall Friday evening. There will be articles of all prices on sale. Everybody is cordially invited to come and have a good time.

The annual meeting of the church and society of the Congregational church will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 20. All members are requested to be present.

The many friends of Miss Helen Harrison are glad to know that she has so far recovered from her sickness as to be able to ride and walk out.

The X. Y. Z. & Q. Railroad Co. will sell their unclaimed baggage at auction at Firemen's hall Friday night at 7 o'clock. The auction is held under the auspices of Wide Awake Grange, and F. A. Hill is the auctioneer.

Band Stand Dedicated.

One of the most enterprising events which has occurred in Summerville since its annexation was the dedication of the new band stand in the corner of the old school yard Thursday evening. This affair originated among the members of the Don't Worry Club, an organization whose objects are for village improvement as well as individual benefit. The project was carried out in a house to house canvass by the persistent efforts of the president, Mrs. Mabel Moffett, and her faithful committee.

St. Johnsbury Band manifested its interest by most willingly giving a free concert which was patronized by a large crowd of citizens. Extemporaneous remarks were made by Capt. E. L. Hovey, who is wholly in sympathy with any movement made to advance Summerville. He alluded to its growth from 1870 to the present time, paid a well-deserved tribute to the late W. H. Herrick, who was a prominent musical director of the town and leader of the original Summerville orchestra, and referred to other competent musicians living, or having lived here. He highly commended the club for becoming a power to create, together with its possibilities in the future. The structure was designed and erected by William McFarland, but a few persons of patriotic impulses, knowing that its crowning beauty would be the stars and stripes, purchased a flag and as the band played its opening piece, "The Star Spangled Banner," the daughter of Joseph Legendre hoisted this flag. After the concert the club furnished refreshments for the band in the Hose House hall.

Excursion to New York.

Tuesday, Oct. 27, the Central Vermont Railway will run its fall excursion to New York via New London and the Norwich Line Steamer "City of Lowell." Tickets will be sold at the very low fare of $6.00 for round trip from Cambridge Junction. Tickets good to return in ten days. See flyers for particulars.

W. C. T. U. State Convention.

The 34th annual state convention of W. C. T. U. was held at Newport last week. Twelve counties were represented. A reception was held Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ida H. Read of Shelburne presided. Greetings were given by D. M. Camp for the town, by Rev. Mr. Williams for the church, and E. S. Watson for the schools, and by the county president, Mrs. E. E. Ware, of Coventry, and the local president, Mrs. Emma Lane. The county presidents responded and on Wednesday the officers and superintendents reported and Miss Edith M. Willis, of Boston, superintendent of scientific temperance instruction, gave an address. The evening speaker was Mrs. Deborah Knox Livingstone of Providence, state president of Rhode Island, who gave an account of the reasons why the answer to the petition "Thy kingdom come" has been so long delayed. She held the closest attention of her audience.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. G. Davidson, of Newfane; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. L. Pearson, of Coventry; recording secretary, Mrs. Ella B. Turner, of St. Johnsbury; treasurer, Mrs. E. M. Denney, of Montpelier; auditor, Alice M. Richardson, of Montpelier; secretary of Loyal Temperance Legion, Miss Elsie Pease, of Swanton; secretary of Young Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Miss Sarah Elrick, of Swanton. Mrs. Read was unanimously and enthusiastically re-elected and it was only after many protests, and with tears in their eyes that the ladies most reluctantly accepted the resignation of one who had so endeared herself to them by her long, faithful and efficient service. The speaker on Thursday evening was Mrs. Elizabeth G. Waycott of Montreal, world's secretary of the Y. W. C. T. U.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The paper chase run by the Juniors Saturday last was quite a success, 15 boys taking part. The course, which was about three miles in length, took the runners, after their start at the gate entering the golf grounds, through the bush at the upper edge of the links and out near the top of the Knob. From there the bush was taken again, runners going down the west side of the Knob towards the Fish Hatchery, coming to Sleepers river and following the stream down several hundred yards by jumping from one stone to another mid-stream, leaving their trail of paper as they went. After crossing the river the bush was again taken, but with the 13 pursuers close on the heels of the two runners and on reaching the Danville road, which was the return route to the building, only 25 yards separated them and then the race became exciting. Kenneth Kirk and Zenas Jenks, who were the two runners, were somewhat inclined to rest by the wayside, after carrying their loads of paper through so much bush, and the pursuers were not any too fresh after following a hard and puzzling trail, but both were spurred on to fresh effort when the race became so close and a capture looked likely; but a fast sprint by the two runners saved them for the moment and all started on the home stretch with all the speed they possessed. The race practically becoming one of endurance as neither side could alter the distance between them. The two runners succeeded in holding their lead ahead of any of the pursuers, of whom Dick Eastman lead, with Ralph Ross a close second and Faulkner Carter third. After half an hour elapsed the remaining runners returned pretty dusty and one or two of them wet through falling in the water while attempting to cross on the stones. After a shower bath and a rub down all were as fresh as when they started. Another chase will be run Saturday next at 3 p. m.

Two ladies' gymnastics classes have been formed, each class to meet twice a week. A morning class will be held from 8 to 9 Wednesday and Friday mornings and an afternoon class on the same days from 2 to 3 p. m. All ladies over 16 years of age are eligible. The fees will be $2 for the full term from October 14, when the classes start, to April next.

Recital. The following is the program for the recital at Pythian Hall, Thursday evening, given by Mrs. Frances Ross Richmond and Miss Helen A. Boynton, assisted by Miss Adine D. Hale of Wells River and William H. Boynton:

Sonata for piano and violin, op. 24, No. 5, first movement. Beethoven. Piano, "Ballade in G minor," Chopin. Violin, "Waltzer's Prelude" from "Die Meistersinger," Wagner. Songs: "Maiden, how Sweet," Devin. "Time's Roses," Darry. "A China Tragedy," Thomas. Piano, "Etude," Arensky. "Berceuse," Ilinsky. "Maiden's Wish," Chopin. Violin, "Etude," Chopin. Violin, Meditation from "Thais," Massenet. Gavotte, Ries.

Tickets, 50 cents, at Bingham's and Stiles'. The speaker on Thursday evening was Mrs. Elizabeth G. Waycott of Montreal, world's secretary of the Y. W. C. T. U.

Don't let the little ones suffer from cramps, colic, cholera, morbus, diarrhea, or other bowel disorders. Get a bottle of or better still, keep one handy. Then give it with sugar according to directions. Cures all intestinal disorders quickly. Is equally sure in curing coughs, colds, croup, sore throat, and kindred troubles. Used externally it heals cuts, burns, bruises, and cures sprains, strains, etc. It pays to be ready for sudden and unexpected ills.

Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is guaranteed under the Food and Drug Act of June 30, 1906. Serial number 513. 25 and 50 cents a bottle everywhere. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

COLONIAL PAINT

Story of "How We Won Out in St. Johnsbury."

We put in a stock of about $100 in 1905—sold possibly $150. In 1906 we began to advertise the "Colonial" Paint—there was $2000 worth used in St. Johnsbury alone. Probably more than any other brand of mixed paint put together. Please note that "Colonial" was almost unknown here in the spring of '06. Painters were enthusiastic over the Paint. In the beginning we had probably dozen well known paints against us. Property owners were not qualifiedly satisfied. In St. Johnsbury today, COLONIAL paint is well known as "World" soap. It had the merit, so recognition had come—bound to be so, wasn't it? We worked to make it well known because we believed in it. You can hardly be extravagant in praise of a good thing.

Remember—we are still selling shingles, lath, clapboards and Pulp plaster.

Special at this time—See our Success Fire Extinguisher—best and best—approved by board of underwriters.

We have also just received a carload of AKRON sewer pipe and are now in position to furnish all sizes and any quantity.

ROOFING.

A man came in Monday and said he wanted to cover his sugar house. Happy thought. Our stone surface roofing is just the thing, especially at 25 per cent off (as we are overloaded on this kind). Wont get afire and shingles rot quickly. A few hours later a leading builder drove up-says, "How much for 100 squares roofing? Got a lot of roofing to do in a big town sixty miles away." He knew we had the right kind and quantity (we carry 1500 squares all the time—enough to cover a small town). We get orders by mail and telephone nearly every day. Received an order this morning for 31 squares 3-ply from a town 100 miles away. You see we are in the roofing business. Have YOU looked it up?

We sell a good roofing—a dependable kind, either the rubber style or the stone surface to cover your barn, house, sheds, hen house, pig pens, corn cribs, camps and cottages.
